

John Rau

Bill Analysis

Legislative Service Commission

H.B. 289***

124th General Assembly
(As Introduced)

Rep. Blasdel

---

BILL SUMMARY

- Permits payment in fiscal year 2002 to any school district that exceeds in fiscal year 2001 the number of calamity days otherwise permitted as a result of closing schools to prevent the spread of meningococcal disease (meningitis).
- Declares an emergency.

---

CONTENT AND OPERATION

Current law requires a minimum school year of essentially 182 days (including a total of four days for teacher preparation and reporting and parent conferences). A school district also may close a school without penalty for up to five additional days for various specified public calamities, which include: disease epidemic, hazardous weather conditions, inoperability of school buses or other necessary equipment, damage to a school building, or other temporary circumstances because of a utility failure that renders a building unfit for use. In all, however, at least 173 days must be spent in classroom instruction. School funding law currently prohibits a school district from receiving state funds in any fiscal year if it did not meet this minimum school year requirement for the preceding school year.<sup>1</sup>

The bill enacts a measure for 2002 only permitting a school district board to receive state funding if it had to close schools for an unspecified number of

---

* This analysis was prepared before the report of bill's introduction appeared in the House Journal. Note that the list of co-sponsors and the legislative history may be incomplete.

<sup>1</sup> R.C. 3313.48 and 3317.01 (neither section in the bill).

additional days in FY 2001 to prevent the spread of meningococcal disease (meningitis).

---

HISTORY

ACTION	DATE	JOURNAL ENTRY
Introduced	06-05-01	---

h0289-i.124/kl