
COURT OF CLAIMS

- Requires that the filing fees collected by the Court of Claims for complaints alleging a denial of access to public records be deposited into the Public Records Fund, which the act creates, and used by the Court to defray its costs.

Public Records Fund

(R.C. 2743.75)

The act directs that the filing fees collected by the Court of Claims for complaints alleging a denial of access to public records be deposited into the Public Records Fund, which it creates in the state treasury. The Court is to use the money to defray the costs it incurs in resolving the complaints. And all investment earnings of the Fund must be credited to the Fund.

Prior law only stipulated that the fees be "kept" by the Court for that purpose.
