JFSCD7 Definition of "remuneration" for purposes of unemployment compensation

R.C. 4141.01

Expands the current law list of types of compensation that are not considered "remuneration" for purposes of Ohio's Unemployment Compensation Law (thus matching federal exclusions):

(1) Payments made to a health savings account or an Archer medical savings account, if it is reasonable to believe the employee will be able to exclude the payments from income;

(2) Remuneration on account of a stock transfer through an incentive stock option plan or employee stock purchase plan, or disposition of that stock;

(3) Any benefit or payment that is excluded from an employee's gross income if the employee is a qualified volunteer for an emergency response organization.

Excludes the types of compensation listed above from an employee's "net take-home weekly wage" for purposes of determining the amount of the employee's temporary total disability compensation under Ohio's Workers' Compensation Law, because the definition of that term cross-references to the definition of "remuneration" under Ohio's

Exempts a law enforcement agency from the requirement to be licensed by the State Board of Pharmacy as a terminal distributor of dangerous drugs in order for the agency to be authorized to possess and distribute, and for the agency's peace officers to be authorized to administer, the drug naloxone, which is used to reverse opioid overdoses.

Fiscal effect: The State Board of Pharmacy will experience a loss in licensing fee revenue related to terminal distributor of dangerous drugs licenses. Currently, in order to possess, distribute, and administer naloxone, law enforcement agencies are required to obtain an terminal distributor of dangerous drugs license and remit a fee in the amount of $112.50 annually. There are approximately 972 law enforcement agencies in the state. However, it is uncertain how many of these agencies would have sought licensure in order to possess and distribute naloxone. Additionally, agencies that are attached to a correctional facility (e.g., county jail) or employ the use of dog trainers may have already carried a terminal distributor of dangerous drugs license. Therefore, the total amount of potential revenue loss due to this provision annually is uncertain. Licensing fees are deposited to the credit of the Occupational Licensing and Regulatory Fund (Fund 4K90).

Fiscal effect: The provision temporarily "freezes" the percentage of the mitigation rate to up to 4.5% until July 1, 2015. Under existing law, each public institution of higher education may offer an ARP to certain academic and administrative employees. The institutions of participants in the ARP must contribute a percentage of the participants' compensation to the retirement system (in this case it would be STRS) that would otherwise cover the ARP participant to mitigate any negative financial impact of the ARP on the retirement system's defined benefit (DB) plan. The percentage paid by public institutions of higher education is determined by actuarial studies conducted by the ORSC and submitted to the Board of Regents. Currently, public institutions of higher education contribute 4.5% of ARP participants payroll to STRS' DB plan to help pay for unfunded liabilities. The provision that requires the ORSC to study and recommend changes to the ARP mitigating rate may increase costs to the ORSC. ORSC receives its funding from a portion of investment earnings made on the assets of the five state retirement systems.

TAXCD40 Recovery of local government tax refunds

No provision.

No provision.

R.C. 5703.052

Extends, from 24 to 36 months, the period of time over which the Tax Commissioner may spread the recovery of refunds that are deducted from taxes and fees collected by the Commissioner and distributed to local governments. (Under continuing law, when a local tax that is collected by the Tax Commissioner, e.g., county sales tax, must be refunded, the Tax Commissioner must pay the refund from the Tax Refund Fund and withhold the amount of the refund from the next distribution of tax revenue due to the local government. Currently, if the amount of the refund exceeds 25% of the local government's next distribution, the Commissioner may spread the recovery of the refund over distributions made within the next 24 months.)

Requires municipal corporations levying an income tax to certify to the Tax Commissioner each year the amount of income tax revenue collected by the municipal corporation from resident and nonresident individuals. financial assistance made from the Fund, and any grants or donations received from nonpublic entities.

Fiscal effect: The provision that allows the Treasurer to invest interim funds of the state in obligations issued by political subdivisions for projects approved by the FMJC may allow the Treasurer to diversify its investments of state interim funds, thereby potentially increasing investment returns or, potentially, leading to investment losses. That provision and others increase the Treasurer's administrative costs, however any costs incurred by the Treasurer may be reimbursed from the Federal-Military Jobs Fund established by the bill. The bill specifies that FMJC members would not be compensated, but would be reimbursed for actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties.

Fiscal effect: The Adjutant General, instead of the Treasurer of State, would incur costs to support the FMJC. Reimbursement of costs would be permitted from the Federal-Military Jobs Fund, but as with the Senate provision, FMJC members would not be compensated, and the bill does not contain any appropriation to the new fund.

TOSCD1 State infrastructure bank obligations

	R.C. 5531.10	R.C. 5531.10	R.C. 5531.10
No provision.	Permits state obligations issued to fund public or private transportation projects to have a maximum maturity date of up to 45 years, if the debt service is contracted in the bond proceedings to be paid by a private entity, as such entity is defined in the Public-Private Initiative Law (R.C. 5501.70 to 5501.83).	Same as the House, but changes description of eligible obligations from those on which "debt service is contracted...to be paid...by a private entity..." to those "issued to finance a transportation facility pursuant to a public-private agreement," and provides definitions for "transportation facility" and "public-private agreement" (R.C 5501.70).	Same as the Senate.
No provision.	Permits the costs of professional services, such as services provided by attorneys, trustees, and other agents, determined necessary to issue the obligations, to be payable as otherwise provided in the bond proceedings rather than being payable from funds of the State Infrastructure Bank (SIB) as current law provides.	Same as the House, but modifies wording slightly.	Same as the Senate.
No provision.	Permits the obligations to be secured by a trust agreement or indenture with any trust company or bank "possessing trust powers" and that has a place of business in Ohio (current law does not include the trust powers requirement).	Same as the House, but (1) specifies that trust powers must be corporate trust powers and (2) permits the trust company or bank to have a place of business outside the state (current law requires a place of business in Ohio). Fiscal effect: The provision would allow the Treasurer of State, the issuer of revenue bonds related to state infrastructure projects, to extend the maximum maturity of transportation projects bonds to 45 years, if the bond proceedings are paid by a private entity. The provision would allow the state to spread debt service payments for such bonds over more years, thereby lowering its annual debt service payment. However, generally, the longer the maturity period of a bond, the higher its total costs (debt service payments) over the entire lifetime of the bond due to payment of more interest; also investors may require higher interest rates for longer-term bonds.
