Public depositories

(R.C. 135.03)

Under Ohio's Uniform Depository Act⁴⁵ only eligible financial institutions may hold public deposits. Eligible financial institutions, such as banks, savings associations, savings and loan associations, and savings banks may apply to the State Board of Deposit (BDP) to serve as a depository of public funds. If selected by BDP, the financial institution is authorized to hold the public funds for a designated period of time.

Current law requires public depositories to be "located in" Ohio. The bill instead specifies that a public depository must have a banking office located in Ohio. Under continuing law, "banking office" means an office or other place established by a bank at which the bank receives money or its equivalent from the public for deposit and conducts a general banking business. "Banking office" does not include any of the following:

- Any location at which a bank receives, but does not accept, cash or other items for subsequent deposit, such as by mail or armored car service or at a lock box or night depository;
- Any structure located within 500 yards of an approved banking office of a bank and operated as an extension of the services of the banking office;
- Any automated teller machine (ATM), remote service unit, or other money transmission device owned, leased, or operated by a bank;
- Any facility located within the geographical limits of a military installation at which a bank only accepts deposits and cashes checks;
- Any location at which a bank takes and processes applications for loans and may disburse loan proceeds, but does not accept deposits;
- Any location at which a bank is engaged solely in providing administrative support services for its own operations or for other depository institutions.⁴⁶

Financial transaction devices (FTDs)

(R.C. 113.40)

Definitions

The bill changes the definition of “financial transaction device” (FTD) to exclude references to certain automated clearinghouse network entries and specifies that the term applies to devices for making payments or transfers of funds denominated in U.S. dollars.

The bill changes the defined term “state expenses” to “revenue” and expands the definition to include charges, tolls, court-ordered restitution, judgments, and other amounts owed to the state.

The bill adds a definition for “processor” as “an entity conducting the settlement of an electronic payment or transfer of funds, which shall be denominated in United States dollars.”

The bill adds “administrative agent of the board of deposit” to mean the Treasurer of State (TOS).

The bill expands the definition of “state entity” to include an officer under the authority of a state elected official, and entities that deposit funds into an account in the custody of the TOS.

Resolution

The bill requires, rather than permits, BDP to adopt a resolution authorizing the collection, receipt, and acceptance by the state of revenue, gifts, donations, or bequests made by FTD, and eliminates the following content which is required to be included in the resolution under current law:

- A designation of state elected officials and state entities authorized to accept payments by FTD;
- A list of state expenses that may be paid by the use of a FTD;
- Specific identification of FTDs that a state elected official or state entity may authorize as acceptable means of payment;
- The amount authorized as a surcharge or convenience fee for persons using a FTD;
- A specific requirement for the payment of a penalty if a payment made by means of a FTD is returned or dishonored.

The bill specifies that the resolution applies to FTD services related to all bank accounts comprising the state treasury, as well as those in the custody of TOS that are not part of the state treasury. The bill eliminates BDP’s duty to transmit a copy of the resolution to each state elected official and state entity authorized to accept payments for state expenses by FTD, as well as the requirement that state elected officials and state entities provide a written notice of intent to adopt the resolution to BDP’s administrative agent.

Under existing law, if a state entity under the authority of a state elected official is directly responsible for collecting state expenses, and the state elected official determines not to accept payments by FTD, the entity is not required to accept payments by FTD. The bill eliminates this provision, removing a state elected official's discretion to reject payments by FTD by a state entity under the official's authority.

Administrative agent

Under continuing law, TOS serves as BDP's administrative agent to solicit proposals. The bill specifies that the proposals solicited must be for FTD services. Under existing law, the administrative agent must request proposals from at least three financial institutions, issuers of financial transaction devices, or processors of FTDs. The bill eliminates that requirement and adds language specifying that the request for proposals be "for acceptance, processing, and settlement services."

Under the bill, the administrative agent must publish an electronic notice regarding requests for proposals on the agent's website instead of on a state agency website as required under existing law. The bill increases, from ten to 15 days, the minimum amount of time after the initial publication of the request for proposals after which the request for proposals will be available. It also eliminates the administrative agent's duty to email the request for proposals to financial institutions, issuers, or processors and requires the request to detail the services subject to the request.

Under existing law, BDP itself, after reviewing all submitted proposals and considering its administrative agent's recommendation, may choose to contract with processors and must provide notice to a processor when the processor's proposal is rejected. The bill transfers the authority to contract to the administrative agent, as well as the duty to notify a processor of a rejected proposal. The bill eliminates BDP's duty to review all submitted proposals.

The bill grants the TOS authority to enter into contracts necessary to fulfill its obligations as administrative agent for BDP.

Surcharges and convenience fees

The bill transfers the authority to establish surcharge and convenience fees on a person making payment by FTD from BDP to state elected officials and state entities. The bill expands the state's ability to impose surcharge and convenience fees on persons making payment by FTD by eliminating the requirement that the authority to impose such fees be provided for under contract.

Under continuing law, when a surcharge or convenience fee is imposed, state entities must notify each person making payment about the surcharge or fee. The bill eliminates the requirement that every state entity accepting payment by FTD post a notice in the entity's office when a surcharge or convenience fee is imposed. The bill eliminates existing language stating that surcharge and convenience fees are not refundable and eliminates the requirement that each notice contain a statement that the surcharge or fee is nonrefundable.

The bill requires a person who remits to the state by FTD revenue that is reversed or less than the amount owed to be liable to the state elected official or state entity for the total amount of state revenue and certain reimbursable costs incurred by the official or entity in collecting the reversed payment. Under existing law, a person who makes payment by FTD that is returned or dishonored is liable to the state for expenses and certain reimbursable costs incurred by the state in collecting the returned or dishonored payment.

Limitation of liability

Existing law provides personal liability immunity to state entities and employees for the final collection of FTD payments. The bill eliminates this immunity for state entities and extends it to state elected officials. The bill adds language specifying that the employees covered under this immunity are those employed by “a state entity or state elected official.”
