Agency prohibited from reintroducing invalidated rule

(R.C. 106.042)

The act prohibits an agency whose proposed rule has been invalidated by a concurrent resolution adopted by the General Assembly from reintroducing or continuing rule-making proceedings with respect to any version of that rule for the remaining term of the General Assembly in which the proposed rule was invalidated. The General Assembly may adopt a concurrent resolution to allow the agency to begin or continue rule-making with respect to a version of an invalidated rule; however, the agency may not adopt the rule unless it was submitted to the Joint Committee on Agency Rule Review and the time for legislative review expired without the General Assembly adopting a concurrent resolution to invalidate the proposed rule.
